MotorVac Expands International Market into the United Arab Emirates and South Africa

July 28, 2008

MotorVac Technologies announced that they are expanding their distribution into the United Arab Emirates (UAE) and South Africa with two new distributors. As of July, MotorVac equipment and service chemicals will be distributed in these emerging markets.

Shannon Company is based out of Dubai in the UAE. The company will offer MotorVac's full line of fluid exchange equipment and service products.

South African distributor, Tolsta added MotorVac's products to its line primarily to meet the rising demand for fuel system related services.

These companies will help to further expand MotorVac's already impressive international market share and increases the company's ability to respond to the escalating worldwide demand for fuel system and fluid maintenance services.

MotorVac is recognized as a leading worldwide supplier of professional automotive fluid maintenance equipment and chemical service products. The company holds 17 patents and has earned many industry awards since its inception in 1992.

MotorVac Technologies, Inc. provides proprietary preventive maintenance service and diagnostic solutions to the transportation industry worldwide
